

Be a part of the Race Exhibit at Lawrence Hall of Science!

A unique 197 course and leadership experience,
facilitating discussions about racial identity
with middle and high school students.

The Race Exhibit: Conversations in a Museum 197 is a two-semester learning and internship opportunity. In the Fall you will learn about the content featured in the exhibit and how to facilitate discussions about complex issues. In the Spring, you will intern at the Lawrence Hall of Science leading Bay Area students in conversations exploring the idea of race.

The Lawrence Hall of Science will be hosting the exhibit Race: Are We So Different? in Spring 2010. In this 197 course you will be a part of the conversation and will help young people think critically about this exciting exhibit.

The Race Exhibit: Conversations in a Museum 197
Tuesdays from 3:30-5:00
1-2 units of credit.

Cross listed in Ethnic Studies, Anthropology,
Integrative Biology, and Education.

First meeting Tuesday, September 8 at 3:30
Multi Cultural Center in Heller Lounge
2nd Floor MLK Student Union